WEDNESDAY SEP. 27 - 1911

The Climax is admittedly optimistic, yet never have we been more certain of the outcome of a State race than we are that the Democratic ticket, headed by Senator McCrory, will win by a comfortable majority in November. If, however, defeat should be the portion of the party, it is gratifying to know that no State ticket in our recollection ever presented to any party in Kentucky has received such valiant support at the hands of the newspaper men of the State. Every daily and weekly paper, with the exception of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is in the forefront fighting manfully for the entire ticket, giving gratis columns of their space and hours of labor in order to assist Democracy to triumph at the polls in November 7. While those of our party affiliation would be cast down at defeat, yet we must admit that, whatever the result, the nominees for State offices will owe to the newspaper men of Kentucky a lasting debt of gratitude.

The reader who fails to turn carefully through the advertising pages of The Climax each week misses much. Our merchants who handle everything that mortal could desire, regularly invite the attention of our readers to their offerings. These advertisers know that they are appealing to the highest class of citizens. At the same time, our readers know that a man who asks their attention to his wares, has something worth while to offer. Advertisers of inferior stock, whether animate or inanimate, understand that it is not profitable to offer them to the constituency served by The Climax. The appearance of an advertisement in our columns is presumptive evidence that the advertiser has something of value to offer, something worthy the attention of our readers. The advertising in The Climax is one of the most valuable features to its readers.

If the Democrats of this Senatorial district are to give opposition to the Republican nominee, it behooves them to get busy and select a candidate who can take the measure of Mr. Welch, who was nominated by the opposing party, at Irvine, some weeks ago. While a number of good men have been spoken of in this connection, we know of none who could come near turning this Republican district into a Democratic victory than Hon. Hugh Riddell, of Irvine. Mr. Riddell is a brilliant lawyer and is well known and very popular throughout the district, and can get the solid Democratic support and more independent votes than any man yet mentioned for the office. His announcement for the Senate would be heralded with great pleasure by his host of friends in Madison and other counties composing the district.

Hon. Wm. Adams, who contested the nomination with Governor McCrory, states in a Courier-Journal interview that the Democratic ticket will be elected by 15,000 majority. Adams took his defeat like the good game loser he is, and is now working valiantly for the success of his party in November. The significant feature of this campaign is the unselfishness of the Democratic leaders. Every man of them is putting aside his personal ambitions in a loyal effort to redeem the state—Cynthia Democratic.

It is most significant that Governor McCrory, forty years ago, as a member of the legislature, voted for a local option bill, says the Shelby News. The temperance people have confidence in his integrity, and they know that when he gives his promise it is as good as a bond. Governor McCrory's word has been given, and he will carry out every pledge in the party platform. The misrepresentation of his enemies will not serve him from his purpose.

The expenditures for active militia during the four years of the last Democratic administration was $29,329.16. The expenditures for the same cause for three and a half years of Governor Wilson's administration was $277,158.87. And you, Mr. Taxpayer, furnish the money to meet the bill. If you desire to contribute toward and encourage such extravagance it will be well for you to get into the O'Rear band wagon.

The Courier-Journal says Kentucky has furnished to other states one hundred and six governors.

Those who voted for Governor Wilson will feel the effects of the Republican administration when called upon to settle their taxes this fall. If we take seriously the threats made by O'Rear in some of his speeches, the exorbitant sum spent during Wilson's administration will not be a drop in the bucket compared with what we may expect if the Republican candidate for governor should be elected.

When the farmers of Kentucky settle with the sheriff, they will begin to realize what a Republican administration can do for them when it tries. The rise of $60,000,000 in the assessed value of farm lands was the work of Governor Wilson's Board of Equalization, and Judge O'Rear has no word of condemnation for this act of spoliation.

In the defeat of reciprocity by Canada President Taft's plan to reduce the cost of living has failed. Democratic leaders claim the failure of Canada to accept reciprocity sounds Taft's doom, and he will be defeated in 1912.

It is claimed after thorough investigation that the process of identification by means of finger prints shows that the chance of mistakes in identification in this manner is less than one in 17,000,000.

The Winchester Sun-Sentinel has the following complimentary notice of Miss Mary Traynor, who is one of Richmond's sweetest singers, and who recently sang at the Central Baptist church of Winchester: "Miss Mary Traynor, of Richmond, in the evening sang, 'Ye Must be Born Again.' Miss Traynor possesses a charming voice, and her earnest manner of rendition was particularly appealing."

Dr. Robt. L. Breck, Chancellor of Central University many years ago, and brother of Judge C. H. Breck, of this city, is visiting friends in Richmond and looking over scenes of years ago.

For some years past Dr. Breck has made his home in California, with his daughter, the wife of the late Hugh A. Moran, of this county. The doctor is in his eighty-fourth year but still enjoys excellent health.

Miss Robin Watson Coleman and W. H. Woodcock were married Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emerine Coleman, in Nicholasville. The ceremony, which was performed by Minister W. S. Irvin, was witnessed only by members of the families of the contracting parties. They left immediately for a motor trip to Louisville, thence to St. Louis. The bride is unusually attractive brunette. Mr. Woodcock is the son of Mrs. Lowry and came here from Danville—Jesse News.

Mrs. Woodcock is a niece of Mr. R. D. Gordon, of this office, and has often visited in Richmond, where she has friends who extend hearty congratulations.

With an attractive picture is the following note in the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune about Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Smith, of Richmond, Ky., who was unanimously elected president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs at the convention in Louisville. Mrs. Smith is a member of the distinguished Clay family, being a granddaughter of Cassius Clay, of White Hall. She is a graduate from the University of Michigan, and has studied in London. She has served in official positions in local clubs, having been president of the Mother's Club and the Woman's Club, of Richmond, Ky. Mrs. Smith is particularly interested in the educational development of her State, and in this capacity she is now a member of a committee of the National Educational Association and chairman of the Madison County School Improvement League.

The following invitations have been issued:

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Covington request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Louise to

Mr. Hasbrouck Haynes on the afternoon of Saturday, October the seventh at three o'clock

First Christian Church Richmond, Kentucky.

The wedding will be a brilliant social event and the ceremony will be performed by Rev. E. B. Barnes, pastor of Christian Church. It will be a yellow and white chrysanthemum wedding, and for which elaborate preparations are being made. The bride's sister, Miss Elizabeth Covington, is to be maid of honor and Mr. Franklin Crosby, of New York, will act as best man. The other attendants will be Messrs. Mary Louise and Josephine Covington, while Messrs. Thomas E. Baldwin, Joe Previtt Chenault and McCrory Simmons will act as ushers. The color scheme will be carried out in every detail, even to the apparel of the little ottoman bearers. The music will be a special feature of the wedding. After the ceremony the happy couple will leave for a two weeks trip, after which they will go to the groom's home in New York City to reside. A large number of out of town guests are expected for the wedding, among whom will be the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Oliphant Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. William Haynes and Miss Helen and Elsie Haynes, all of New York. In view of the popularity of the bride-elect and her high standing in social and educational circles, the approaching nuptials are of double interest. She is an unusually attractive young woman, possessing a rare type of beauty. She is a graduate of Madison Institute and a college woman. She has occupied the chair of English in several well known schools, among them, Bryn Mawr, of Lexington. She is likewise an experienced tourist, having crossed the Atlantic for Old World tours several times. Mr. Haynes is fortunate to win so discerning a person who combines all the charms of a southern-bred girl with high culture and attainments of a college woman. The groom is a prominent New Yorker, and is said to be every way worthy of the prize he has won. The Climax joins with many friends in extending hearty congratulations and good wishes.

EFFECT OF FOOD AND DRINK

Important Part Played by Cow's Rations on Quality of Butter Secured—Care in Making.

The quality of the butter depends to a great degree upon the food and drink of a cow. She should have clean, pure water and wholesome food. Much care should be taken in the selection of the ration. The individual cow has much to do in this regard. But with respect to the part that is played in shaping the product of the cow too much carelessness is evident in the processes of buttermaking. After churning is finished the butter and milk mixture should be quiet for about ten minutes in order to let the butter come to the surface. A cup of cold water will hasten the process. An old recipe says: "The butter should be carefully skimmed off into a wooden bowl half full of water. The water should be repeatedly changed until it shows no indication of milkiness. It is important that the butter should not be pressed or worked during the process of removing the milk from the butter. After this the butter may be pressed into a mass and salt to the extent of one-fourth its weight worked into it. The water should be well pressed out, but the less worked the more perfectly its granular character is maintained.

Butter is pressed firmly to the earthen jars or wooden bins and kept at a temperature of 50 or 60 degrees it may be preserved in fair condition for six to eight months.

COW STALL IS COMFORTABLE

Stanchion Is Not Suitable for Animal, as She Must Stand in One Place and Is Not Free.

There are many kinds of stall fixtures. The stanchion, crib and racks and the empty stall with no places for hay but to throw it in front of the cow, and what she does not clean up at once is trampled.

The stanchion is not very good for the cow. She must stand there in one place and is not free as in a stall.

In a properly built stall, when the cow feeds, the hind feet are on the plank floor, and when she lies down she will get up into the stall with her head under the rack.

With the old style crib it is reversed. When she feeds she must get up, her head in the crib, and when lying down get back into the dirt, and if not kept well bedded she will be dirty clear to the ears.

A Good Cow-Stall.

Be Patient With Heifer.

Be patient and gentle with the heifer when she comes in. If she is of your own raising and you have always treated her kindly she will not be afraid of you. And when you and the heifer's nose in her feed you ought to have no trouble in milking. Having the calf near the first few days and talking to the young cow increases her confidence.

Some Cows Notional.

Some cows are like some people, notional, have to be humored to get on to do their best. We have had cows that would eat anything given to them, says a writer in an exchange. Others will not eat certain feeds unless starved to it. It surely pays to consider the special requirements and whims of each cow in the herd.

Elder Peel Called to Bethel Church.

Elder W. L. Peel has closed a revival at Bethel Church in this county. The meeting was one of the most successful from a spiritual standpoint ever held in that section. The people of that community think very highly of Brother Peel and at the close of the revival he was called to preach for them the ensuing year.

Public Sale

Fine Bluegrass Farm

The undersigned will sell publicly, to the highest and best bidder, on October 7, 1911,

commencing promptly at 10 o'clock a. m., the following property, to-wit:

160 acres fine Bluegrass land situated in Madison county, on the Four Mile turnpike, about 1 mile from the Court House, known as the Noble farm and formerly as the Joe Chenault farm.

On said farm is situated a nice frame residence of 7 rooms, bunks, porches, etc.; eastern, southern, good stock barn, and well fenced and well watered. One of the best ponds anywhere, had plenty of water after the extended drought.

Said land will be divided into separate parcels, and will be sold in five, ten, twenty, forty and eighty acre tracts, making about fifteen parcels in all, with the right to sell any one or more of the tracts together or as a whole, the bid of the bringing the most money will be accepted.

Now is the time and chance to get you a home, any size you desire. The land is rich, has well, raises good hemp, tobacco, corn and bluegrass, in fact, it will raise anything you desire to put in it. It is close to one of the best towns in Central Kentucky, which has located in it the best schools in the state, namely: the Eastern Kentucky State Normal School, Madison Female Institute, and one of the best public schools anywhere.

It is our judgment that when the Lord created this earth, He made about 24 counties in Central Kentucky, of which we claim Madison county to be one of the best—the garden spot of the world.

Why should you go West to seek a home in a one crop State, and then crop out every three years, when Old Kentucky will raise wheat, corn, hemp, tobacco, oats, barley—one and all of them each and every year, and is one of the finest grain and stock raising States in the Union?

One acre of Kentucky bluegrass, clover, or timothy, will produce more pounds of beef or pork than will an acre of land in any other State in the Union. Come and look at this farm before the day of sale. We will be glad to show you. And make up your mind to buy a Bluegrass farm and live and die happy in Old Kentucky.

Terms—Very liberal and made known on day of sale.

Don't forget the date, Saturday, Oct. 7, 1911.
